

ATLANT presents MATERIA, the new Fall/Winter 2025 collection.

The new collection from ATLANT finds its voice at Espai Corberó — the home of Xavier Corberó, an sculptor and a masterpiece of brutalism.

Corberó's universe, based on form, material and meaning, connects with the same instincts that define ATLANT: a precise architectural vision, a devotion to raw materials and the pursuit of essential form.

MATERIA begins where noise ends: in silence, weight and form. Inspired by a universe suspended between brutalism and art, the collection explores the essence of architecture as presence and force. It is not ornament: it is structure, tension and permanence.

The collection is articulated through three capsules: ODYSSEY, the most expressive, which reinterprets architecture with voluminous forms and pronounced details; ZENITH, inspired by contemporary brutalism, with timeless, comfortable designs such as the REMO model or a reinterpretation of the caravan; and HORIZON, the most futuristic, which favours ultra-light structures, technical precision and a high-tech design.

Chromatic innovation is expressed in custom bi-layer acetates that combine solid and translucent textures, bringing unique contrasts and transparencies that reveal ATLANT's distinctive hardware. New finishes, lightness and comfort define a collection that is not merely worn, but inhabited.
