Xenon Ophthalmics Introduces the XO™ Vision Care System

One system. From appointment to finished eyewear.

Belleville, NJ | February 9, 2026 — Xenon Ophthalmics today announced the launch of the XO™ Vision Care System, an end-to-end platform designed to modernize how eye care is delivered, from patient scheduling through completed eyewear.

Built to address rising demand, workforce constraints, and fragmented workflows across the vision care industry, the XO Vision Care System connects every step of the patient journey into one integrated, scalable solution. The system is designed for use in retail, clinical, and mobile environments, supporting access and efficiency without compromising care quality.

The XO Vision Care System includes four integrated components:

- xolris™, an intelligent scheduling and patient flow platform that optimizes access, reduces friction, and improves operational efficiency.
- xoExam™, a medical-grade, doctor-led remote eye exam system that delivers comprehensive vision testing while expanding reach beyond traditional exam rooms.
- xoFit™, a digital frame fitting and measurement system that captures precise facial and frame data to support confident frame selection and lab-ready measurements.
- xoLab™, an on-site eyewear finishing solution that enables faster delivery of finished eyewear through integrated tracing, edging, blocking, and prescription verification.

Together, these components create a continuous workflow that helps practices and retailers reduce complexity, increase throughput, and deliver a more consistent patient experience.

“Eye care demand has changed, but delivery models have struggled to keep pace,” said Zeshan Khan, Founder and CEO of Xenon Ophthalmics. “The XO Vision Care System was designed from the ground up as a complete workflow. One system that supports access, precision, and scalability from the first appointment to finished eyewear.”

Xenon Ophthalmics will showcase the XO Vision Care System at Vision Expo East, taking place March 11–14 in Orlando, Florida, at Booth #4317, located near the Innovation Stage.
